19. That the last payment on the account was no later than June 30, 2010.

20. That by letter dated November 6, 2014 defendant wrote to plaintiff in an attempt to collect the defaulted Home Depot/Citibank debt.

21. That defendant stated in the caption of the letter:

“Creditor: JH PORTFOLIO DEBT EQUITIES, LLC.

31. That upon receiving defendant’s letter and discovering that defendant had sought to deceive him into paying the debt, plaintiff suffered confusion, irritation, emotional anxiety and distress.

AS AND FOR A FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

15 U.S.C. §§ 1692e(2)(A) and 1692e(10)

Defendant's Failure to Inform Plaintiff that the Statute of Limitations had Expired

32. That plaintiff re-alleges paragraphs 1-31 as if fully re-stated herein.

33. That by failing to inform plaintiff in its letter that the statute of limitations on the debt had expired, defendant failed to disclose relevant information to plaintiff that would have necessarily influenced plaintiff's decision as to whether to pay the debt or any portion of it.

34. That defendant knew that if plaintiff paid any portion of the debt, plaintiff would have waived the defense of the statute of limitations.

35. That defendant knew that if plaintiff paid any portion of the debt, plaintiff would have made himself liable to be sued for the debt all over again.

36. That, upon receipt of defendant's letter, plaintiff did not know the legal effect of paying the debt or any portion of it.

37. That, upon receipt of defendant's letter, the least sophisticated consumer would not know the legal effect of paying the debt or any portion of it.

38. That, upon receipt of defendant's letter, the least sophisticated consumer would believe that she had a legally enforceable obligation to pay the debt.

39. That defendant's failure to state in its letter that the debt is beyond the statute of limitations, is a false representation of the legal status of the debt and is therefore in violation of the FDCPA, including but not limited to, § 1692e(2)(A).

40. That defendant's failure to state in its letter that the debt is beyond the statute of limitations constitutes a false and deceptive means used by defendant in its attempt to collect the debt and is in violation of the FDCPA, including but not limited to § 1692e(10).

AS AND FOR A SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

15 U.S.C. §§ 1692g(a)(2) and 1692e(10)

Defendant's Failure to Inform Plaintiff of the Creditor of the Debt

41. That plaintiff re-alleges paragraphs 1-40 as if fully re-stated herein.

42. That defendant stated in its letter that the creditor of the debt is JH Portfolio Debt Equities, LLC.

43. That defendant also stated in its letter that the debt is now owned by Alpha Recovery Corp.

44. That in its letter defendant does not state how it is related to or affiliated with JH Portfolio Debt Equities, LLC.

45. That defendant is not related to or affiliated with JH Portfolio Debt Equities, LLC. by common ownership or by corporate control.

46. That the creditor of the debt is not Alpha Recovery Corp.

47. That the owner of the debt is not Alpha Recovery Corp.

48. That defendant gave contradictory and conflicting representations as to the creditor of the debt.

49. That in its letter defendant gave contradictory and conflicting representations as to the creditor to whom the debt is owed, therefore violating the FDCPA, including but not limited to 15 U.S.C. § 1692g(a)(2).

50. That defendant's contradictory and conflicting representations as to the creditor to whom the debt is owed also violate the FDCPA, including but not limited to 15 U.S.C. § 1692e(10) as a false and deceptive representation and means used by defendant to attempt to collect the debt.

AS AND FOR A THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

NYGBL § 349

51. That plaintiff re-alleges paragraphs 1 to 50 as if fully re-stated herein.

52. That defendant owed a duty to plaintiff to effect its collection of plaintiff's alleged debt with reasonable care.

53. That defendant's attempt to collect the debt from plaintiff without stating in its letter that the applicable statute of limitations for plaintiff to be sued on the debt had already expired, shows defendant's lack of exercise of reasonable care in the collection of the alleged debt.

54. That defendant's contradictory and conflicting representations in its letter concerning the creditor of plaintiff's debt shows defendant's lack of exercise of reasonable care in the collection of the alleged debt.

55. That defendant breached its duty to collect plaintiff's alleged debt with reasonable care.

56. That said deceptive and misleading acts and practices were committed by defendant in the conduct of a business, trade or commerce or the furnishing of a service in New York State and constitutes a violation of NYGBL § 349.

57. That each of the collection letters in which defendant fails to state that the statute of limitations for suing on the debt had expired is a form collection letter which defendant sends to hundreds, if not thousands, of consumers in New York State each month.

58. That each of the collection letters in which defendant gives contradictory and conflicting representations concerning the creditor of the debt is a form collection letter which defendant sends to hundreds, if not thousands, of consumers in New York State each month.

59. That defendant's said statements in its letters have a broad impact on consumers at large in New York State whose accounts are placed with defendant for collection.

60. That upon reading defendant's collection letter, plaintiff did not know and could not know that the legal effect of paying a portion of the debt would be to revive the statute of limitations to be sued.

61. That upon reading defendant's collection letter, plaintiff did not know and could not know the creditor of his debt.

62. That, therefore, defendant's statements in its letter to plaintiff are deceptive and misleading in a material way.

63. That plaintiff is a reasonable consumer within the meaning of the NYGBL and acted reasonably under the circumstances of this case.

64. That upon receiving defendant's letter and discovering that defendant had sought to deceive him into paying the debt, plaintiff suffered confusion, irritation, emotional anxiety and distress.

65. That defendant violated NYGBL § 349(a) and is liable to plaintiff pursuant to NYGBL § 349(h).

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

66. That plaintiff re-alleges paragraphs 1-65 as if fully re-stated herein.

67. That this action is brought on behalf of plaintiff and the members of a class. The class consists of all persons who defendant's records reflect were sent debt collection letters within the State of New York within the period of time commencing one year before the filing of this complaint up to and including the date of the filing of the complaint and who were sent a collection letter (a) in substantially the same form as the letter sent to plaintiff dated November 6, 2014; (b) the collection letter was sent to a consumer seeking payment of a consumer debt; (c) the collection letter was not returned by the postal service as undelivered; and (d) the letter contained the above violations of 15 U.S.C. §§ 1692e(10) and 1692g(a)(2).

The class shall be further defined as follows:

All natural persons residing in the State of New York to whom defendant sent a collection letter concerning a debt, which letter states that the creditor of the debt is JH Portfolio Debt Equities, LLC. and that the debt is now owned by Alpha Recovery Corp., and which letter was not returned by the postal service as undeliverable, from one year before the filing of this complaint to the date of the filing of this complaint inclusive.

68. That the class does not include defendant or persons who are officers, directors, or employees of defendant.

69. That pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a class action is appropriate and preferable in this case because:

- (A) Based on the fact that the collection letter that is the gravamen of this litigation is a mass-mailed form letter, the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. Upon information and belief, thousands of persons have received similar debt collection letters from defendant which violate the various provisions of the FDCPA.
- (B) There are questions of law and fact common to the class and these questions predominate over any questions affecting only individual class members. The principal question presented by this claim is whether defendant violated the FDCPA including but not limited to §§ 1692e(10) and 1692g(a)(2) by failing to state accurately in its collection letters the name of the creditor to whom the debt is owed.
- (C) The only individual issue is the identification of the consumers who received the letters (the class members), a matter capable of ministerial determination from the records of defendant.
- (D) The claims of plaintiff are typical of those of the class members. All are based on the same facts and legal theories.
- (E) Plaintiff will fairly and adequately represent the class members' interests. Plaintiff has retained experienced counsel. Plaintiff's interests are consistent with those of the members of the class.

70. That a class action is superior for the fair and efficient adjudication of the class members' claims. Congress specifically envisions class actions as a principal means of enforcing the FDCPA in 15 U.S.C. § 1692k. The members of the class are generally unsophisticated individuals, whose rights will not be vindicated in the absence of a class action. Prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the class would create the risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications resulting in the establishment of inconsistent or varying standards for the parties and would not be in the interest of judicial economy.

71. That if the facts are discovered to be appropriate, plaintiff will seek to certify a class action pursuant to Rule 23(b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

72. That communications from debt collectors, such as those sent by defendant, are to be evaluated by the objective standard of the hypothetical "least sophisticated consumer".

73. That as a result of the above violations, defendant is liable to plaintiff and the members of the class for injunctive relief and damages in an amount to be determined at the time of trial, plus costs and attorneys' fees.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff respectfully prays that judgment be entered against defendant as follows:

- (a) certifying a class action pursuant to Rule 23(b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure;
- (b) awarding class members the maximum statutory damages pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1692k;
- (c) awarding individual statutory damages pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1692k in an amount to be determined at time of trial;
- (d) awarding actual damages pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1692k in an amount to be determined at time of trial.
- (e) awarding reasonable attorneys' fees, costs and disbursements pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1692k;
- (f) enjoining defendant from misrepresenting the character and legal status of the debt in its collection letters to plaintiff, pursuant to NYGBL § 349;
- (g) enjoining defendant from misrepresenting the creditor of the debt in its collection letters to plaintiff, pursuant to NYGBL § 349;
- (h) enjoining defendant from committing further deceptive and misleading acts and practices against plaintiff in its collection letters to plaintiff, pursuant to NYGBL § 349;
- (i) awarding statutory damages pursuant to NYGBL § 349 in an amount to be determined at time of trial;

- (j) awarding actual damages pursuant to NYGBL § 349 in an amount to be determined at time of trial;
- (k) awarding reasonable attorneys' fees, costs and disbursements pursuant to NYGBL § 349(h); and
- (l) for such other and further relief as may be just and proper.
